MOCSA Young Welsh Singer of the Year Competition

Following an initial review of the 2022 MOCSA Young Welsh Singer of the Year Competition, the MOCSA Committee has decided that a more comprehensive review of the Competition is required. The Competition has been running for over 40 years and is widely recognised as one of the most prestigious for young Welsh classical singers studying music as part of their early professional development. The MOCSA Committee is committed to ensuring that the Competition continues to support young Welsh singers and feels that a comprehensive review of how the Competition is organised going forward is required to ensure it continues to meet those aims.

To facilitate this review there will be no Competition in 2023. The review will inform plans for the return of the Competition in 2024.

In the absence of the Competition this year, the MOCSA Committee is looking at how its Annual Concert, with the Morrison Orpheus Choir in September, which traditionally features the Final of the MOCSA Young Welsh Singer of the Year Competition, can continue to support Young Welsh singers.
